

Big Law Business Summit – West

Bloomberg Law will present a half-day program and networking event called the Big Law Business Summit – West, designed as a unique forum for legal industry professionals to uncover new opportunities and solve for challenges to their businesses.

The event will be in Los Angeles on Oct. 27, 2016.

The Big Law Business Summit – West will feature keynote interviews, presentations and conclude with a networking event, the company says. The summit will explore trends, opportunities and challenges, and new developments that are impacting the business of big law – how services are delivered, how value is created for clients, and how firms and legal departments are evolving.
