

Buchalter Welcomes Two Shareholders in Los Angeles

Peter V. Hogan and Dennis E. Raglin have joined Buchalter as shareholders in the Los Angeles office.

Hogan, a member of the Corporate Practice Group, represents middle market and emerging growth companies in initial public offerings, second offerings, mergers and acquisitions, angel and venture capital financing, 1934 Act reporting obligations, as well as the interests of broker-dealers.

As a member of the Litigation Practice Group, Dennis Raglin has more than 20 years of experience as a litigator and concentrates his practice on products liability, including medical device and pharmaceuticals, and in general and complex litigation. He also counsels and defends clients in California's Proposition 65 right-to-know chemical warnings law, as well as state and national chemical compliance laws and regulations generally.

"I am so pleased to welcome Peter and Dennis, said President and Chief Executive Officer Adam J. Bass. "They are both accomplished attorneys who bring a wealth of knowledge and expertise to our transactional and litigation practices."

In a release, the firm said Hogan's clients include private early stage, middle market, and publicly traded companies from the entertainment, digital media, manufacturing, restaurant, technology industries, software, payment processing and esports. He also advises companies on corporate governance, executive employment and shareholder matters. Hogan received his J.D., from Boston College School of Law. He also earned his M.B.A. and B.A. from Boston College.

"I am thrilled to join Buchalter's full-service Corporate Practice Group. The firm's impressive platform allows me to offer unparalleled service to my clients and grow my practice,” said Peter Hogan.

The firm said Raglin’s clients span a range of industries, including representing clients who manufacture and distribute products that include implantable and prescription medical devices, prescription and over-the-counter pharmaceuticals, biologics, baby and toddler formula, nutritional supplements and food products, durable medical equipment, heavy equipment, automobiles, personal care goods and cosmetics, pet care products, household goods, sporting goods and water gear. He earned his J.D. from the University of California, Davis School of Law and his B.A., cum laude, from the University of California, Riverside.

“My practice fits perfectly with Buchalter’s talented and growing litigation practice and I am excited to be joining the firm. I look forward to integrating my clients and introducing them to the firm’s impressive capabilities,” added Raglin.