

Paul Hewett Joins Orsinger, Nelson, Downing & Anderson's New Frisco Office

North Texas lawyer Paul Hewett has joined the family law boutique Orsinger, Nelson, Downing & Anderson, LLP, as a partner in the firm's newly opened Frisco, Texas office.

"We are very pleased to bring an attorney with Paul's reputation and deep ties to the Frisco community to our firm," said firm partner and co-founder Keith Nelson. "Family law requires a unique level of trust with a client and a special understanding of what is most important in order to deliver the results that matter. That is exactly what Paul does."

In a release, the firm said Hewett's practice involves complex family law, including divorce, property characterization and valuation, and pre- and postmarital agreements. A former child support enforcement officer with the Texas Attorney General's Office, Hewett also focuses on child custody and enforcement actions.

He joins the firm from the Frisco-based family law boutique Woods, May, Rachel, Matlock & Hewett.

"The attorneys at ONDA are hands-down the best in Texas, and the opportunity to join a firm with such a phenomenal reputation was something I could not let pass by," said Hewett, a longtime Frisco resident and a graduate of Leadership Frisco.

Board Certified in Family Law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization since 2008, Hewett is a member of the Texas Academy of Family Law Specialists. He is a member of the State Bar of Texas and the bar associations of Collin and Denton counties. In recognition of his family law work, Hewett has been selected to the Texas Super Lawyers listing of top attorneys in the state annually since 2013.