

GE Healthcare Eyes Automation in Its Legal Operations

Bloomberg Law reports that GE Healthcare is finding automation to be one of the biggest challenges as it builds its legal operations function, Vice President and General Counsel Laura O'Donnell said.

O'Donnell told Bloomberg BNA's Yin Wilczek that the company's in-house lawyers have been wrestling with how legal processes that are tailored for specific needs can be made "repeatable and automated without losing the good analysis that we are known for as a profession."

Bloomberg includes a video of O'Donnell discussing GE Healthcare's automation efforts.
