

Hedge Fund Sues Theranos, Citing 'Lies, Material Misstatements, and Omissions'

Elizabeth
Holmes

*Photo by Max
Morse for TechCrunch*

Partner Fund Management, a San Francisco-based hedge fund that reportedly wrote out a $96 million check to Theranos in 2014, is now suing the blood-testing startup and its founder, Elizabeth Holmes, reports TechCrunch.

In its filing, the plaintiff says Theranos duped it into investing “through a series of lies, material misstatements, and omissions,” and accusing the firm of engaging in “securities fraud and other violations by fraudulently inducing” it to invest and to maintain its investment in the company reports Connie Loizos.

Reports says that the plaintiff claims says Holmes and another former Theranos executive blatantly lied to the hedge fund by claiming it had developed “proprietary technologies that worked” and that it was nearing regulatory approvals.

Read the article.

