

Tesla Replaces General Counsel With Seasoned Beltway Trial Lawyer

Tesla announced on Friday that General Counsel Todd Maron is leaving the electric vehicle maker, the second high-ranking attorney to do so this quarter.

CNBC reports that the move comes a month after Phil Rothenberg left his post as Tesla's vice president of legal to become general counsel at Sonder, a hospitality start-up.

CNBC's Lora Kolodny reports:

"The electric car company said it plans to replace Maron with seasoned Beltway trial lawyer Dane Butswinkas, a chairman at Williams & Connolly, who was also a Co-Chair in the firm's Commercial Litigation, Financial Services and Banking Groups."
