

Trump Facing Legal, Tax Questions

Donald Trump is facing some tax and legal challenges that could complicate his bid for the White House, reports Bankrate.

“Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington, or CREW, has asked the IRS to look into a donation from the Trump Foundation to a group connected with the Florida attorney general. CREW contends that the gift was improperly made to a political group and was not reported as required on the foundation’s tax filing,” the article says.

The Donald J. Trump Foundation is a tax-exempt organization with an IRS 501(c)(3) designation.
