

10 More Ways to Use Metrics to Show Your Department's Value

✖ Bridgeway Software will present a free webinar revealing several innovative ways to present data about your law department using compelling graphics. The webinar will be Wednesday, Sept. 17, beginning at noon Central time.

The webcast will cover: which data to gather, how to interpret the data, and how to use your gathered data to convey your department's value.

Rees Morrison, principal at Altman Weil, Inc., will be the featured speaker.

On its website, Bridgeway says, "In today's data-driven business world, every member of your organization needs to be able to use data metrics to show their personal and departmental value."

Register for the webinar.