

'Affluenza' Teen's Mom Tonya Couch Released From Jail

Tonya Couch, the mother of "affluenza" teen Ethan Couch, was released from Tarrant County Jail in Texas today after a judge reduced her $1 million bond to $75,000, ABC reports.

She was arrested Dec. 28 in Mexico along with Ethan, who was wanted on a probation violation. She is charged with hindering the apprehension of a fugitive.

Her son was placed on probation after he killed four people and injured several more in a drunk driving crash in 2013, when he was 16 years old.
