

Akerman Grows Litigation Practice in New York with Real Estate Litigator Massimo D'Angelo

Akerman LLP, a top 100 U.S. law firm serving clients across the Americas, today announced the growth of the Litigation Practice Group in New York with Massimo D'Angelo. He advances Akerman's real estate strengths representing landlords, owners, tenants and tenant groups, bringing experience in dispute resolutions surrounding force majeure, contract negotiations, tenant-landlord conflicts, and business interruption insurance and coverage.

D'Angelo focuses his practice on real estate litigation and transactional work. He represents condominium and cooperative boards on matters related to general corporate governance and he serves as lead trial counsel for boards and developers on construction defect cases. D'Angelo regularly represents commercial and residential landlords in connection with complex real estate litigation matters and advises clients in connection with real estate administrative and environmental proceedings. D'Angelo has extensive experience in conducting trials and arguing appeals in both state and federal court.

D'Angelo is fluent in Italian and conversant in French and Spanish.
