Businesses Need Emergency Preparedness for Infectious Disease

Emergency plans for natural disasters are not enough – businesses need to plan specifically for illness, says Allied Barton Security Services in a free on-demand webinar.

To reduce the impact of a viral outbreak on your business, it is important for organizations to begin continuity planning for infectious disease now, the company says.

The webinar can help participants develop widespread disease prevention strategies, build an illness management team, formalize your illness preparedness and response plans, and communicate your efforts internally and externally
