American Apparel Names New General Counsel

American Apparel Inc. has named Chelsea A. Grayson its new executive vice president, general counsel and secretary of the company. The appointment will be effective Dec. 15, 2014.

Grayson was in private practice as a corporate attorney for more than 15 years with Jones Day and Loeb & Loeb LLP, where she was a partner in the corporate groups of both firms, according to fibre 2 fashion. Her experience includes private placements of equity and debt securities for public and private companies, joint ventures and strategic alliances, and mergers and acquisitions for clients in a variety of industries, including retail.

Chelsea Grayson will replace Tobias S. Keller, who has been interim general counsel since June 2014.

Read the story.