

Are You Ready For Your Next Investigation?

✘ IBM presents a complimentary on-demand webinar on legal risk management and increased pressure to renegotiate contracts.

On its website, IBM says legal teams across global organizations are dealing with rising regulatory and compliance demands while also managing legal risks and increased pressure to renegotiate contracts.

M.C. McBain, General Counsel, discusses how to learn how to gain visibility and control over legal documents—from email threads to contracts—and stay a step ahead of your next audit.

You will learn:

- Why increasing business pressure is causing general counsels and corporate legal departments to do more with less
- How the lack of a centralized contract management system is leaving legal departments with limited visibility into their global contracts
- Ways to mitigate risk in contracts across the organization with visibility and control
