

Attorney Returns to Toys‘R‘Us Parent as General Counsel

“Tru Kids Brands, the parent of Toys‘R‘Us and Babies‘R‘Us created in January 2019, has hired Anand Shah as general counsel,” reports Ben Maiden in Corporate Secretary’s Appointments.

“Shah most recently worked as assistant general counsel for North America at chocolate company Ferrero, where he advised the business on issues such as acquisitions, e-commerce, retail operations, manufacturing, supply chain, financings and litigation.”

“Before that he was corporate counsel at Toys‘R‘Us from 2012 to 2017. In that role he was responsible for global corporate governance, negotiating and implementing strategic partnerships and supporting financing activities and licensing transactions.”

Read the article.