

BakerHostetler Shale Symposium: The State of the Shale Play

✖ BakerHostetler and Young Professionals in Energy co-hosted a symposium focused on the shale phenomenon in the United States and its implications in the energy industry.

That presentation is now available online as a free webinar.

Speakers included Jorge Leis – Partner and Head of Americas Oil & Gas Practice, Bain & Company, and Kenneth M. Fisher – Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, Noble Energy.

The webinar covers:

- The history of the shale phenomenon and its future
- The disagreement between various groups on the shale industry
- Long-term strategic planning for the shale industry
- North American shale gas and the implications both domestically and globally
- The status of LNG and NGL exports and what the industry is projecting
- An operator's perspective on the current state of the energy industry, including opinions on how to produce energy safely and sustainably
- The anti-fracking movement and the community outreach and educational programs implemented to resolve it
- The shale industry's positive effect on the U.S. economy

Watch the webinar.