

Bed Bath & Beyond's C-Suite Shake-Up Claims Longtime Legal Chief

Bed Bath & Beyond Inc.'s longtime general counsel Allan Rauch is among six senior executives departing the company as part of a corporate restructuring announced Dec. 17, reports Bloomberg Law.

The home goods retailer named a former subordinate of Rauch's to succeed him as general counsel on an interim basis.

Bloomberg's Brian Baxter writes that the new interim GC, Michael Callahan, is a former vice president and corporate counsel with more than 25 years of experience in the company's law department.

Rauch joined the company in 1994 and became general counsel in 1996.

Read the Bloomberg Law article.