

Biglaw Partner Who Set Britney Free is the Ringleader for 2021's Lawyer of the Year

"Oh, baby, baby! The competition for 2021 Lawyer of the Year honors was not a close one, not even one little bit. Our top candidate took home more than 50% of the vote, while our second-place finisher had just 11% of the total tally. In fact, the new titleholder secured almost 150 more votes than this year," reports Staci Zaretsky in Above The Law.

"In a year where some of the most important news circled around the frivolous litigation in the wake of 2020's presidential election, it makes sense that the lawyer who came out on top had absolutely nothing to do with it. America needed a break from lawyers trying to protect FREE DUMB, and voted for an attorney who was trying,"
