Black & Veatch 2015 Energy Market Perspective

Black & Veatch will present a free webinar highlighting key findings from the firm's 2015 outlook on the integrated North American energy markets.

The one-hour complimentary webinar will be Wednesday, Jan. 28, beginning at noon Central time.

On its website, the firm says the webinar will cover:

– How oil prices and the oil industry will ultimately impact the natural gas and power industries

– The potential impacts the Clean Power Plan and other environmental regulations will have on the U.S. power market

– 25-year energy price forecasts that include projected natural gas, coal and oil prices, average electricity and capacity prices, and carbon emissions price

Register for the webinar.