

Black & Veatch Offers 2014 Energy Market Perspective Webinar

- ❑ Black & Veatch will review its mid-year 2014 Energy Market Outlook and Industry Trends in a free, one-hour webinar.

This webinar will discuss the company's insights into the near and long-term energy market, providing an outlook for the power, emissions, natural gas and power fuel industries to identify industry trends and provide market insights.

The webinar will be Thursday, July 31, at 2 p.m. Eastern time.

The latest Energy Market Perspective focuses on several issues driving significant changes to the national energy landscape, including unprecedented levels of power generation unit retirements, continued renewable and efficiency initiatives, transmission grid expansion, and ongoing development of domestic natural gas reserves and infrastructure. The combined impact of these key drivers will present challenges and opportunities across the energy sector.

Get more information and register.