Bradley Partner Junaid Odubeko Earns Certified Information Privacy Professional Credential

Bradley Arant Boult Cummings LLP is pleased to announce that Junaid Odubeko, an attorney in the firm's Nashville office, has earned the Certified Information Privacy Professional (CIPP/US) credential in the United States through the International Association of Privacy Professionals (IAPP).

Odubeko is a partner in Bradley's Litigation Practice Group, who focuses his practice on representing clients in complex commercial and business disputes, real estate litigation, state regulatory matters and campaign finance. He also advises business clients on matters related to cybersecurity and privacy, including compliance with the California Privacy Rights Act (CPRA) and California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA).

Odubeko received his J.D. from Vanderbilt University Law School and his B.A. (magna cum laude) from the University of Tennessee. Prior to joining Bradley, he served as legal counsel and deputy legal counsel to Gov. Phil Bredesen, serving as the governor's liaison to the Tennessee attorney general and each state agency.

Bradley has nine attorneys who are CIPP/US certified. Accredited by the American National Standards Institute, the CIPP is recognized as a leading global privacy and data protection credentialing program. The CIPP/US designates professionals who demonstrate a strong foundation in U.S. private-sector privacy laws and regulations and an understanding of the legal requirements for the responsible transfer of sensitive personal data to/from the United States, the European Union, and other jurisdictions.
