Bradley’s Roy D. Campbell III Honored with Professionalism Award from Capital Area Bar Association

Bradley Arant Boult Cummings LLP is pleased to announce that Roy D. Campbell III, a partner in the firm’s Jackson office, was honored with the 2021 Capital Area Bar Association (CABA) Professionalism Award.

The CABA Professionalism Award is presented to an individual based on a lifetime of service to the profession and to the bar, demonstrating consistent adherence to professional standards of practice, encouraging respect for the law, and committing to public service. Mr. Campbell received the award at CABA’s annual “Evening Honoring the Judiciary” event.

Mr. Campbell has more than 40 years of experience litigating a variety of civil suits at both the trial and appellate levels, including antitrust claims, commercial lease disputes, contract breaches, business torts, insurance coverage and employment disputes. He has served as lead counsel in over 100 jury trials and is a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers and of the Mississippi Bar Foundation. Mr. Campbell is a past president of both the Capital Area Bar Association and the Mississippi Bar Association, and is a member of the Mississippi Commission on Judicial Performance and of the Mississippi Bar’s Professionalism Committee.
