Bradley’s Saira S. Siddiqui Named Vice President of Community Outreach for South Asian Bar Association of Houston

Bradley Arant Boult Cummings LLP is pleased to announce that Saira S. Siddiqui, an associate in the firm’s Houston office, has been named to the board for the South Asian Bar Association of Houston (SABA Houston) as the Vice President of Community Outreach. Her term began June 12.

SABA Houston is dedicated to the needs, concerns, and interests of South Asian lawyers and strives to promote the professional development of the South Asian legal community, while ensuring the civil liberties of and the provision of legal services to the local South Asian community.

Siddiqui focuses her practice on commercial litigation and personal injury, specifically in the energy and construction fields. She has extensive experience in insurance coverage and bad faith litigation matters in state and federal courts across Texas. A graduate of the South Texas College of Law, Ms. Siddiqui is an active member of the State Bar of Texas, serving as the Houston chairperson for the Young Construction Lawyers Committee. She is also a member of the Houston Young Lawyers Association.