Bradley’s Shandra Wright and Jennifer Cooper Named to Birmingham Chapter of Women in eDiscovery Board

Bradley Arant Boult Cummings LLP is pleased to announce that Shandra Wright, Bradley’s director of eDiscovery and paralegal services, and Jennifer Cooper, the firm’s eDiscovery and litigation support coordinator, have been elected to the Women in eDiscovery Board for the Birmingham chapter. Cooper was elected social media director, and Wright was chosen as director.

Bradley maintains a position at the forefront of the rapidly evolving electronic data and discovery field. Electronic data discovery and preservation of electronically stored information is more important to litigation than ever and can often unearth evidence that can change the outcome of an entire case. To this end, the firm’s eDiscovery team works tirelessly to ensure that their clients receive all the data they are entitled to during discovery.

Women in eDiscovery (WiE) is a non-profit organization that provides educational opportunities regarding technology in the legal industry to its members. The organization offers networking and leadership avenues, promotes personal and professional growth of women, and donates mentoring and charitable contributions to its communities. WiE is comprised of professionals within the legal industry including attorneys, litigation support professionals, paralegals, legal IT staff, court reporters, consultants, recruiters and vendors.