

Braves MLB Trade Rumors Projects the Contracts of Freeman, Rosario, and Soler

“MLB Trade Rumors put together their list of the top 50 free agents this offseason with projections. However, unlike McDaniel, MLB Trade Rumors also had Jorge Soler among their top 50 free agents, coming in at 25. Beginning with Freeman, MLB Trade Rumors projects the Braves first baseman to sign a six-year,” reports Chase Irle in ATL.

“Two of the three writers had him staying with the Braves, with one predicting him to sign with the Red Sox. Six years seems to be the popular pick as far as the length of Freeman’s next contract goes. McDaniel also had Freeman signing a six-year deal, but for $156 million. I agree with the length of the deal but have a feeling MLB Trade.”

Read the article.