

Top 7 Key Performance Indicators Every Law Department Should Consider

☒ Many law departments are continuing to focus on lowering costs. But what needs to be considered in order to achieve that objective, and what other objectives should be set altogether?

Bridgeway Software will offer some guidance on that issue in a 60-minute free webinar Wednesday, April 22, at 2 p.m. Central time.

Developing the right Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) and aligning them with the business' goals can be the key to excellence, relative to both cost and performance, says a Bridgeway spokesman. Respondents to the 7th Annual Law Department Operations Survey have shed some light on what those KPIs are.

The host will be Brad Blickstein, principal with the Blickstein Group. Reese Arrowsmith, SVP & Head of Enterprise with Lincoln Financial, will be the special guest.
