

Brien Joins United Companies as VP, General Counsel

“United Companies hired Meagan Brien as vice president and general counsel. Brien will be responsible for ensuring risk mitigation in defined areas of corporate insurance and legal matters and will ensure full legal and regulatory compliance for business operations of United Companies and its subsidiaries,” reports Monitor Daily in their blog.

“I am thrilled at the unique opportunity as general counsel of United Companies to use my diverse background in litigation, secured transactions and corporate matters and to work for a company that is dedicated to its customers, employees and community, Brien said. Before joining United, Brien served as a partner at Dentons Bingham.”
