

Brightflag Accelerates Innovation With New VP of Product

Barry O'Melia brings 20+ years of legal tech expertise

NEW YORK – April 21, 2021 – Brightflag, the AI-powered enterprise legal management platform, today announced the appointment of legal technology veteran Barry O'Melia as the company's new Vice President of Product. O'Melia will align Brightflag's product vision, customers' emerging requirements, and his own industry perspective to deliver easy-to-use innovations that offer practical value to corporate legal departments.

O'Melia was formerly the leader of multiple product groups at Relativity, the e-discovery and compliance software leader recently valued at $3.6 billion. Prior to Relativity, O'Melia spent more than a decade specializing in big data analysis with e-discovery provider Digital WarRoom.

Following the company's $28 million funding round in November and its year-over-year doubling of annual recurring revenue in 2020, this announcement marks the third new executive hire made by Brightflag this year.