

Buchalter Adds New Shareholder to Sacramento Office

Buchalter is pleased to announce the addition of Shareholder Josh Escovedo to its Sacramento and Los Angeles offices. Josh brings a wealth of legal experience and a diverse litigation practice with an emphasis on intellectual property, real estate, business, and sports law issues.

“Josh is a seasoned attorney with a remarkable breadth of expertise, and we are thrilled to welcome him to Buchalter,” said Adam Bass, Buchalter’s President and Chief Executive Officer. “His dynamic practice and commitment to exceptional representation align perfectly with our values and commitment to client success.”

With a focus on complex litigation matters, Josh is known for handling cases involving breaches of contracts, fraud, shareholder and partnership disputes, and other business-related actions. His proficiency extends to defamation and free-speech actions, where he has established himself as a recognized authority, providing strategic counsel to achieve favorable outcomes for clients.

Josh also brings his extensive experience in intellectual property law to the firm. He regularly handles trademark and copyright matters, including litigation, transactional work, licensing, and acquisitions and sales of intellectual property. His comprehensive approach ensures that clients’ intellectual property assets are well-protected and utilized to their fullest potential.

Moreover, his sophisticated real estate practice caters to commercial property owners, developers, property managers, and builders. His expertise includes managing commercial contract and lease disputes, purchase and sale litigation, development disputes, fraud actions, mechanic's lien claims, and providing strategic advice and counsel to his clients.

"I am delighted to join Buchalter and collaborate with its talented team of attorneys," said Escovedo. "Buchalter's commitment to excellence and comprehensive service offerings provide an exceptional platform to deliver top-tier counsel to our clients, and I'm especially excited about its entrepreneurial spirit."

With this addition, Buchalter continues to strengthen its position as a leading legal service provider, delivering high-quality representation to a diverse range of clients.

"We are delighted to welcome Josh and add his extensive legal knowledge to Sacramento and the firm as a whole. His arrival aligns perfectly with our growth trajectory, and we anticipate further expansion and additional lateral hires in the near future," commented Jim Dyer, Buchalter's Chief Financial Officer and the Managing Shareholder of its Sacramento office.
