

Buchalter Welcomes New Shareholder in Atlanta

Buchalter is excited to announce that Brian Goldberg has joined the Firm as a Shareholder in the Atlanta office. With a wealth of litigation experience, Goldberg specializes in managing intricate commercial and business disputes, real estate litigation, landlord/tenant issues, creditor rights litigation, lender-liability defense, professional liability, and premises liability cases.

“Brian’s extensive litigation background and his proven success in representing clients in high-stakes cases make him a valuable addition to our team,” said Adam Bass, President and CEO of Buchalter. “We are thrilled to have him on board as we continue expanding in Atlanta and look forward to the contributions he will make to the Firm.”

Goldberg’s client roster includes publicly traded companies, national banks, mortgage servicers, property management firms, small businesses, investors, and individuals he represents in state and federal courts. He has served as lead counsel in jury trials. He has significant experience managing complex bankruptcy disputes and adversary proceedings in Georgia and beyond.

“I am excited to join Buchalter and work alongside the talented team in Atlanta and throughout the Firm,” Goldberg shared. “The Firm’s dedication to exceptional client service and its strategic approach to litigation align perfectly with my practice.”

Goldberg is a trusted advisor for businesses and individuals dealing with various real estate litigation issues, including quiet title actions, boundary disputes, partition cases, and complex title resolutions. His expertise also extends to handling residential and commercial property foreclosures and eviction matters.

Seth Trimble, Managing Shareholder of the Atlanta office, commented, "Brian's expertise in commercial and real estate litigation enhances our capabilities as we expand in the Southeast. His reputation as a skilled litigator and trusted advisor will be a tremendous asset to our clients."
