

Business Growth Prompts SDV West Coast Office Relocation in Temecula

Temecula, California – Saxe Doernberger & Vita, P.C. (“SDV”) opened its doors in 1996 with three lawyers in a small office in New Haven, Connecticut. Twenty-seven years later, SDV is a “boutique” national insurance coverage law firm with four offices locations in Connecticut, California, Florida, and New Jersey. This year, the West Coast office in Temecula, California will celebrate seven successful years of business growth and expansion.

SDV’s West Coast office first opened its doors in Temecula, California in December 2016. The office has grown exponentially and boasts a team of highly experienced legal professionals. “The continued success of our office is about sharing the vision and values of our founding Partners with the next generation of lawyers,” says Jeremiah Welch, Managing Partner at SDV West Coast. “I am fortunate to be surrounded in our office by some of the most talented and effective future leaders in our profession. To me, this practice is about helping our clients solve critical problems through the application of analytical thinking, creativity, and tenacity.” Offering significant value to client and partner relationships is the core of SDV’s success. Strong relationships with like-minded individuals help SDV thrive and earn the respect of its clients and colleagues. The firm has stayed true to that model to this day.

SDV is now proudly located at One BetterWorld Circle, Suite 300 in Temecula, California.

SDV is among the elite law firms in the country representing policyholders in insurance coverage disputes and one of the even fewer national firms whose practice is focused exclusively in this area. Our clients span a broad range, from individuals to international corporations, and reach across all industries. No matter who or where you are, SDV is the right choice for policyholders.
