

Champlain Towers South Collapse $1B Class Action Settlement

“Survivors and bereaved family members secured a settlement of over $1 billion in their class action lawsuit over the 2021 collapse of Champlain Towers South. The settlement benefits a large group of individuals affected by the Champlain Towers South collapse. This includes unit owners, residents,” reports Top Class Actions in their blog.

“Anyone who was present at the time of the collapse, those injured in the collapse (physically or emotionally), those who suffered personal property damage and those who suffered economic damages from the collapse. The class also includes representatives of these individuals, including surviving family members of deceased victims. On June 24.”
