

Consumer Affairs Announces John Henson as General Counsel

“Consumer Affairs, an advocacy organization and online marketplace with more than 4 million monthly readers, announced today that John Henson has been named the company’s General Counsel. As ConsumerAffairs’ General Counsel, Henson will lead the company’s legal, regulatory and compliance,” reports PR Newswire in their blog.

“Organization and the talent and culture team as the company continues to grow. He joined ConsumerAffairs in 20210 as VP & Head of Legal and Compliance and has played a pivotal role in maturing the company’s legal and compliance processes. John joining our leadership continues to strengthen a great team who will help us.”
