

Webinar: Managing Your Contractual Obligations | Best Practices

Corridor Company has posted an on-demand webinar recording describing the best practices for managing contractual obligations.

“Contract management has become an increasingly strategic initiative,” the company says on its website. “Key to its strategic nature is the management of the obligations contained within the contract. Whether it’s the deliverables due to your customer or those due to you, it’s vital that these obligations are properly tracked and managed. Failure to do so not only creates tremendous organizational risk, but also impacts compliance, profitability and overall customer satisfaction.”

In this session, Corridor Company CEO, Russ Edelman, discussed best practices for managing your contractual obligations. He examined general considerations as well as detailed options for managing these obligations within a contract management tool.

Topics included:

- The Key Steps of Obligation Tracking
- Proper Classifications
- Automation Considerations
