

Cybersecurity Compliance Are you Accidentally Breaking the Law?

“When a business suffers a cyber incident, a myriad of legal and regulatory implications follow. To handle such an incident effectively and legally. The current cyber threat landscape is incredibly active given the rush to remote work as a result of the pandemic,” reports Heather Bearfield, Frank Rudewicz and David Sun in Boston Business Journal.

“A significant increase in security incidents has occurred. Meanwhile, hackers both individuals and nation states recognize this and continue to exploit weaknesses in cybersecurity systems and practices. A recent global study conducted by Ponemon Institute and IBM Security noted the average cost of a data breach in the U.S.”

Read the article.