

Ethics and eDiscovery: Do You Meet Expectations of Competence?

D4, LLC has posted an on-demand webinar that explores ethical duties of counsel to understand clients' use of technology, to find the right ESI, and to negotiate scope effectively.

The webinar's panelists discuss attorneys' ethical obligation to understand their client's use of technology, as it relates to investigation, preservation, and analysis of data during discovery.

Viewers will learn ethical considerations of:

- Competence to identify and filter the right information
- Negotiating a proportionate scope of discovery
- Supervision of lawyers, vendors, and staff
- Using technology to manage costs
- Balancing fairness with "zealous advocacy"
