David Akere Joins Dallas Litigation Firm of Crawford, Wishnew & Lang

DALLAS – Crawford, Wishnew & Lang, a Dallas-based litigation firm, has welcomed attorney David Akere to its legal team. Akere, a Dallas native, brings experience in commercial and real estate litigation, as well as labor, employment, and sports law.

He joins the firm with a strong trial background and a drive to win cases for his clients.

He earned his law degree from UCLA and graduated with honors in Government from Georgetown University, where he also captained the Division I football team for two seasons. Akere has lived in Lagos and London, giving him a broad perspective, and is conversational in Spanish.

Founding partner Dave Wishnew called Akere a “fantastic hire,” citing his talent and experience as a strong asset for the firm and its clients.

Akere said he is excited to be part of a dedicated and competitive team focused on client success.

Read Also:

1. Blank Rome welcomes litigators David and Megan to Dallas office.
2. Joining of Elizabeth La Rocca to Frost Todd as partner in Dallas.