

Davis Polk Rewards Associates with Gifts for Work in Pandemic

“Davis Polk & Wardwell, which was the first Big Law firm to offer a ‘special bonus’ of up to $40,000 for associates last year, is offering them another thank you for hard work during the pandemic in the form of high-end gift packages,” reports Meghan Tribe in Bloomberg Law’s Business & Practice.

“Associates have the opportunity to select a gift from a curated selection of items and experiences that include a shopping spree, fitness equipment, and wine packages, said Davis Polk managing partner Neil Barr in an email.”
