

Davis Wright Tremaine Adds Satellite and Telecom Lawyer Lafayette M. Greenfield II To Enhance Its Integrated Technology and Communications Practice

Davis Wright Tremaine LLP has added satellite and telecommunications lawyer Lafayette M. Greenfield II as a partner in its Washington, D.C., office, bringing new capabilities to its team serving the technology and communications industries.

Greenfield, who joins the firm from Milbank, focuses his practice on satellite operators, telecommunications companies, aerospace manufacturers and launch services providers. He advises satellite and telecom companies and investors on transactional and regulatory matters and has significant experience with the Federal Communications Commission and regulations applicable to satellite systems and space-based technologies. He also has extensive experience advising a broad range of clients on international trade and national security matters.

Greenfield received his law degree from Howard University School of Law and his undergraduate degree from Radford University.