

Davis+Gilbert Announces Largest Round of Promotions in its Recent History

Davis+Gilbert has announced the largest round of promotions in its recent history, with eight lawyers joining the partnership and three lawyers elevated to counsel, effective January 1, 2022. The class is almost equally divided between women and men, and 73% of the promoted attorneys are members of historically underrepresented groups.

“This is an extremely strong group of attorneys representing six of our practice areas where we have seen tremendous growth,” said chairman Ron Urbach. “We are proud to promote such a large, diverse class with an incredible level of experience, expertise and knowledge.”

The class breakdown by practice is: three in Corporate + Transactions; two in Litigation + Dispute Resolution; two in Labor + Employment; two in Real Estate; one in Advertising + Marketing; and one in Benefits + Compensation.

The new partners, along with their areas of practice are:

Sharon Cohen, Labor + Employment

David Fisher, Labor + Employment

Maxine Sharavsky Garrett, Advertising + Marketing

Jessica L. Ho, Corporate + Transactions

Corey Kaplan, Real Estate

Charles Mileski, Real Estate

Marc Rogers, Jr., Corporate + Transactions

Jacklyn M. Siegel, Litigation + Dispute Resolution

Lawyers elevated to counsel include:

Daniel A. Dingerson, Litigation + Dispute Resolution

Matt Hanley, Corporate + Transactions

Gabrielle White, Benefits + Compensation