

Dennis Wiessner Named General Counsel at Spaceflight

“Dennis Wiessner, a legal veteran in defense, aerospace and government contracting industries for more than two decades, has been named general counsel at Spaceflight,” posts Matthew Nelson in Executive Biz’ Executive Moves.

“Wiessner will direct Spaceflight’s legal efforts as part of his new capacity, the company said April 6.”

“Prior to his appointment, Wiessner worked as vice president and general counsel at Sea Launch Company, a former Boeing joint venture, as well as secretary to the board of directors and chief compliance and ethics officer. He also held similar roles at Leonardo and at Thales’ avionics business in California.”
