Getting Cloud Data from the New Big Three: Google, iCloud & MS Office 365

EDRM will present a complimentary webinar discussing the nuts and bolts of cloud E-Discovery with practical examples and demonstrations.

The webinar will be Wednesday, March 4, beginning at 1 p.m. Central time.

Digital data has moved and is continuing to move to the cloud, EDRM says on its website: “Individuals, businesses, and corporations find cloud sourcing to be a compelling value proposition. How can counsel manage not only traditional office documents now created, hosted and shared in the cloud but social media and social communications. Google has not integrated social messaging and video messaging into its basic suite of business productions. How can this digital information be requested, delivered and analyzed? The questions for E-Discovery are how can information be easily harvested from cloud locations and reviewed seamlessly.”

Speakers will be:
* Ian Campbell, President & CEO, iCONECT Development, LLC
* Jason A. Pill, Associate, Phelps Dunbar LLP
* Andrew Wilson, CEO, Logikcull

Moderators will be:
* George Socha, Co-Founder, EDRM
* Tom Gelbmann, Co-Founder, EDRM

The webinar is sponsored by Zapproved.

Register for the webinar.