Eleven Bradley Attorneys Named to 2021 ‘Attorneys For Justice’ by Tennessee Supreme Court

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (Nov. 23, 2021) – Bradley Arant Boult Cummings LLP is pleased to announce that eleven attorneys in the firm’s Nashville office have been recognized by the Tennessee Supreme Court as 2021 “Attorneys for Justice.” The firm’s honorees are Marc Bussone, Tim Capria, Madison Crooks Haynes, Alexandra Lynn, Peter Sales, Edmund Sauer, Jeff Sheehan, Rachel Sodée, Taylor Scott, Richard Swor, and David Taylor.

This marks the eighth consecutive year that the Tennessee Supreme Court has recognized “Attorneys for Justice,” which the court defines as lawyers who work a minimum of 50 pro bono hours annually to provide legal services to those who cannot afford the costs. The goal of the recognition program is to increase statewide pro bono work to 50% participation.

“We are thrilled to have attorneys in our Nashville office once again recognized as Attorneys for Justice,” said Bradley Pro Bono Counsel Tiffany M. Graves. “At Bradley, we are committed to pro bono service in the communities where we live and work, and we are proud of these eleven attorneys for their dedication to serving those in need.”

Attorneys in Bradley’s Nashville office are actively involved in a number of pro bono efforts, including the Black-Owned Small Business and Nonprofit Legal Clinic, which was launched in January of 2021 to provide accessible and affordable business-oriented legal services to Black-owned small businesses and nonprofits in the Nashville area.

About Bradley

Bradley combines skilled legal counsel with exceptional client service and unwavering integrity to assist a diverse range of corporate and individual clients in achieving their business goals. With offices in Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and the District of Columbia, the firm’s nearly 550 lawyers represent regional, national and international clients in various industries, including banking and financial services, construction, energy, healthcare, life sciences, manufacturing, real estate, and technology, among many others.