eTERA Consulting Celebrates Anniversary of Successful All1ance One Partner Program

eTERA Consulting, an internationally recognized and award-winning leader in data and technology management, today celebrates the one year anniversary of the All1ance One Partner Program. Developed to expand the depth of eTERA's client base, the All1ance One Partner Program has successfully accelerated the onboarding of several new clients that have experienced the benefits of eTERA's full range of eDiscovery services throughout the Electronic Discovery Reference Model ("EDRM"), the company said in a release.

At the helm of the All1ance One Partner Program is Mary McGinness who brings nearly a decade of client relations experience to the table. "We are thrilled to celebrate the Program's one year anniversary and look forward to expanding the Program and allowing our partners to benefit from every bit of success they help us generate," said McGinness. "An ideal All1ance One Partner is one who has deep roots in the legal space and is interested in leveraging their contacts in order to generate additional revenue streams for their business. We look forward to several more years of success with the Program."

Under McGinness's leadership, the All1ance One Partner Program has attracted dozens of Partners that has led to significant revenue for eTERA and substantial referral fees. Program benefits include:

- Generous referral bonuses
- No fees or annual commitments
- Partnering with a company with financial stability, national recognition and a global footprint

- Ability to provide eDiscovery services to clients
- Dedicated Partner manager
- Ongoing training and education

“The All1ance One Partner Program is critical to our growth strategy as the demand for eDiscovery and data management services accelerate,” said Scott Holec, President of eTERA Consulting. “Together with our dedicated and well-connected Partners, we can look forward to long-standing, mutually-beneficial relationships to meet increasing market demands.”
