

Ex-Biglaw Partner Arrested, Accused of Cyberstalking Former Colleagues

“It’s not every day that an ex-Biglaw partner is arrested on federal cyberstalking charges and accused of launching a campaign of harassment, intimidation, and threats against his former partners, but here we are. Willie Dennis, 59, a former corporate partner at K&L Gates, was arrested last week in the,” reports Staci Zaretsky in Above The Law.

“Dominican Republic after allegedly sending an untold number of harassing, threatening, and intimidating emails and text messages to a number of people at the firm over the course of more than 18 months. The indictment against Dennis was unsealed this past Friday. Dennis, who is Black, was let go in May 2019, and he did not part.”

Read the article.