White Paper: Trips, Slips & Falls – New National Standards Certain to Be a Game Changer

The standards for walkway safety have changed – and the way slip and fall lawsuits are going to change with them, reports The Expert Institute.

The Institute has produced a white paper that outlines crucial updates made by the (ANSI) B101 committee on safety requirements for slip, trip, and fall requirements, and how they will impact defendant liability in more than half of all slip and fall claims.

The information in this whitepaper will help readers:

- Use new testing standards to prove defendant liability
- Select better slip and fall cases
- Understand how these new standards will affect your practice
