

Explaining Your Tax Affairs for Extractives

✖ PwC offers a free on-demand webcast on the evolving country-by-country tax reporting landscape for companies involved in the extractives industry.

Understanding how your company is impacted by the latest developments in country-by-country reporting is a key issue for the extractives industry, PwC says on its website. Publicly reporting government payments brings with it a number of disclosure risks that need to be considered and carefully managed.

The webcast highlights some of those risks and suggest practical approaches to collecting and collating the key data.

Get more information and see the on-demand webcast.