Exterro Collaboration Tools & E-Discovery

Overcoming discovery challenges presented by Slack, Teams and other communication apps

During this pandemic, there's a high probability you've expanded the usage (and potentially the number) of workplace tools that allow you to collaborate with other team members. As a result, new new pre-litigation discovery risks are rapidly growing.

Download this white paper and learn:

- How to preserve, collect, and review data from business collaboration tools like Teams, Slack, etc.
- Immediate process improvements to ensure data collection and preservation of this data
- Technology considerations for automating the data collection and review process