

Family Office General Counsel

“Kinney Recruiting are excited to be working on an exclusive basis to fill a position for general counsel of a family office, to be based in New York, San Francisco, or Miami. If you have at least several years of experience handling VC or private equity deals at a top law firm probably 4-6 years, VC firm, private equity firm, or family office, as well as strong interpersonal and communication skills,” reports Kinney Recruiting in Above the Law.

“This is the first GC hired and this family office is currently doing four deals per week or more. The pace will be fast the hours will be manageable, but it will not be a lifestyle job. You should expect to be in direct and constant contact with the client, who is an outstanding gentleman, and to be a problem solver on many levels. Pay will be commensurate with experience, but this has the potential to be a very lucrative role over time.”

Read the article.