

For NJT, Office of General Counsel Established

“New Jersey Gov. Phil Murphy on Aug. 16 announced the appointment, which establishes a new in-house legal department at NJ Transit. The move stems from Murphy’s 2018 executive order directing an assessment of the N.J. Department of Transportation. Among the recommendations were the,” reports Marybeth Luczak in Railway Age.

“Wilson is currently Deputy Chief Counsel and Director of the Governor’s Authorities Unit for the state of New Jersey. Since September 2018, he has overseen the governance and operations of more than 50 independent state and bi-state agencies on behalf of the governor, and has sat on NJ Transit’s Board of Directors, exercising oversight.”
