

Former Attorney General Now Bills for Biglaw at Nearly $2,300 Per Hour

“Former U.S. Attorney General Eric Holder Jr. is billing at $2,295 as a partner at Covington & Burling, according to a contract that the firm signed with a public university,” reports Debra Cassens Weiss in Above the Law’s Law Firms.

“Holder revealed his hourly rate in a March 30 letter to the Oregon Health & Science University, report the Oregonian, the National Law Journal and Oregon Public Broadcasting.”

“The letter confirms that Holder and his firm have been hired by the university to investigate harassment, discrimination, bullying and intimidation. Covington & Burling will discount its hourly rates by 10%.”

Read the article.